Killed a Bear—The largest bear of the season, killed this far, is the one bagged by Vest Grow and John Allen, last week in Spring canyon, on the north fork of South Fork canyon. The animal was a cinnamon, weighing about 300 pounds. Before killing the bear, both men had a narrow escape. The men were near the mouth of a cave, which was partly hidden by thick underbrush, when suddenly the bear arose on his hind legs and started toward them. Mr. Grow got his gun to his shoulder and fired when the bear was within about fifteen feet of him. The shot was effective and the bullet penetrated the top of the animal's skull. The trophy was brought to the city and many friends supplied with bear meat while the skin is to make a rug.

In Police Court—William Delaney and Pat O'Flaherty were before the judge of the municipal court this morning on charges of mendacity. They pleaded not guilty, but the evidence adduced convinced the court that they were mendacious, and they were sentenced to thirty days in the city jail. The evidence showed that they had been in the city jail before and that, altogether, they are quite undesirable citizens. The officer exhibited an ugly black jack that was taken from Delaney. Willard Cole was fined for disturbing the peace and he was discharged. The complaint alleged that on October 30, Cole created a disturbance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Varney by using loud and profane language. The testimony given indicated that it was a family row regarding the title to a piece of property, and that both parties had quarreled over the matter.

TWO MASKED MEN USE THEIR GUNS

Open Fire on the Crew of a Dining Car in the Yards and Wound Conductor C. G. Eldredge—One of the Most Daring Robberies Ever Attempted in Ogden.

One of the boldest holdups in Ogden in a number of months was that which occurred in the Denver and Rio Grande yards at 3:45 o'clock, when a dining car, containing eight men, was entered by two masked men and, in a fight that followed, Conductor C. G. Eldredge was shot through the left hand.

Immediately after the shooting, the robbers left without booty. The injured man was sent to the Ogden General hospital. The officers received a fair clue and it is thought the robbers will be run down.

The Denver & Rio Grande dining car arrived on yesterday afternoon's train and was taken to the yards north of the corner of Twenty-first street and Reeves avenue, where it was cleaned and prepared to go out on the early morning train. The crew, which consisted of seven white men, had beds made down in the car, ready to leave in the morning. After the night switch engine crew had attended to all the necessary switching and had left the yards, the robbers gained entrance to the car. That the robbers knew that Eldredge was the conductor and the one who had the money was disclosed by the fact that they passed the other seven men to reach Eldredge. One of the robbers shook him sternly, covered him with a revolver and commanded him to throw up his hands and turn over his money. Eldredge was dazed from the sudden awakening and started to fight. His men also jumped out of their beds to go to his assistance. During the struggle to retain the money, Eldredge was shot through the left hand. The robbers then retreated through the door and vanished in the darkness. Eldredge had about $400 in his possession, which he saved.

As soon as possible the police department was advised and immediately officers were detailed upon the case. A fair description was obtained, but a thorough search of the railroad yards was made without success.

Eldredge, when removed to the hospital, had his injured hand dressed. Another conductor was furnished for the car which left for the east on the 7 o'clock train.

It is thought that Eldredge will not lose his hand, as the bullet pierced the palm and did not shatter the bones.

OFFER $80,000 FOR BIG PRIZE FIGHT

Local Syndicate, Headed by Jimmie Dunn, Bidding for the Jeffries-Johnson Fight and a Tempting Prize Is Tendered for the Contest to Be Held in Ogden.

"Ogden, Utah, Nov. 7th, 1939—Jas. J. Jeffries, Los Angeles, Cal. "Syndicate organized here today offers purse eighty thousand dollars for your bout with Johnson, provided you will fight here during National Wool Growers' convention and Mid-Winter Sheep Show, January 5, 6, 7 and 9, 1940. (Signed) "JIMMIE DUNN, Secretary."

The above telegram was addressed to James J. Jeffries this morning and a like telegram was sent to Jack Johnson, the two world champions of the prize ring.

The promoters of the scheme are of the opinion that the Jeffries-Johnson boxing contest would be an additional attractive feature to the National Wool Growers' convention and that the location of Ogden would appeal to the big fighters.

It is claimed by the fight fans that Ogden is the most centrally situated city in the international region for the championship contest, and that the largest crowd ever assembled at the rodeo would be here.

Ogden, they claim, possesses more natural advantages for the contest than any other city in the United States in point of climate, mineral bathing facilities, railroad facilities and everything that goes to make an ideal battling ground.

Some doubt has been expressed as to whether the city and county officers would permit the bout to be pulled off here, and to obtain the consensus of opinion in this regard, a Standard representative has made inquiry.

SUBJECT TO MILITARY DUTY

The board of county commissioners held a brief session this morning, at which the regular routine reports were received and acted upon.

County Assessor Dix submitted the list of persons in Weber county subject to militia duty. One copy was made for the county and another copy for the adjutant of the militia.

The sum of $250 was appropriated for the grading of North Ogden hill, the work to start at an early date.

The appointment of a deputy sheriff to act as bailiff in the district court was not made today. It is expected that the appointment will be made next Monday. The name of Thomas S. Feeney has been suggested for the position as the possible successor of the late Samuel Cave. It is stated that Mr. Feeney has been appointed by Judge Howell and Sheriff Wilson and will be submitted to the commissioners.

POLITICS AND RECLAMATION IN STATE OF NEVADA

State Engineer of Nevada Frank R. Nichols returned to Ogden yesterday for a few hours last evening, while on his way home from southern Nevada. Mr. Nichols is pleased with the outlook for Moapa, Calientes and other places in southern Nevada, where reclamation of some of the arid lands is under way.

Mr. Nichols states that recently large flows of artesian water have been developed in and about Moapa, and that a large acreage supplied by the wells will be placed under cultivation next year. He says, in equal to the boasted Italian climate, and there is a great future for that section in the raising of semi-tropical fruits.

Next year, in Nevada, will be the state election of officers and Mr. Nichols states, he will try hard to head the Democratic ticket for either governor or lieutenant governor. He will not try for the nomination for governor in the event that Governor Dickinson is a candidate for the nomination, but if the governor does not want the honor, if Dickinson runs for governor, Mr. Nichols says he expects to be on the ticket for lieutenant governor.

The state engineer says his friends are anxious for him to make the race for governor and that he has concluded to do so. He seems to be quite confident that the Democrats will carry the Nevada again next year.

Mr. Nichols is well known in Ogden, he having been identified with the engineering department of the Oregon Short Line here in the years 1926-27 and his wife has a number of very close friends in this city. Young Robert Lee Nichols, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nichols, is a student at the naval academy at Annapolis, he having been appointed to the cadetship by Senator Newlands.

THIRD WARD YOUNG PEOPLE HOLD INTERESTING SERVICES

At the Third ward last evening an interesting service was held under the auspices of the Y. L. and Y. M. M. I. A. After the opening song and prayer, a violin solo was rendered by Miss Violet Fisher.

President Bingham then announced the mutual work and invited all to join the young men and ladies in a trip through Africa in one night with A. B. Fowler, on Wednesday evening next, assuming that it would be edifying and instructive to old and young.

The "Prodigal Son" recited by Miss Moyes, was one feature that led the large audience to the point where Elder Norman Sheren took their attention and held them attentively for one hour with that interesting and instructive subject, "The Young Man in the Church," proving beyond a doubt that there would still be a church 100 years from now.

Miss Jensen announced the coming conference and thanked all for their presence.

In Santa Fe, the Italian car, which left Los Angeles first at 10 o'clock last night, was the first to reach here at 10:47 a.m. It thus covered the 248 miles of the first leg of the journey in 12 hours, 47 minutes.
